Introduction. Conflict theory was first articulated by Karl Marx as a way to explain his perception that society was engaged in a continual struggle or conflict due to a finite supply of resources. As a result, the order of society is determined by the powers that rise to the top to control the resources. The subtext of this theory is that order is established by rule and tyranny rather than by consensus of the whole.

Negotiators who function in volatile markets, for instance, should first target deals that are not only attractive in their own right but that also reveal the most information about how prices are moving.. By contrast, chaotic situations are so turbulent that there are no trends to monitor. Instead, they call for crisis management.. The boundary separating complex and chaotic situations is blurry.
